Butler County Auditor Roger Reynolds Names New Chief Deputy

HAMILTON, OHIO – In one of his first official acts as Butler County Auditor, Roger Reynolds has named former Interim Auditor Michael A. Tilton as his Chief Deputy.

“Mike Tilton is a great asset to both the Auditor’s office and to the citizens of Butler County and I’m delighted to have a person of his caliber on our team,” said Reynolds. “I look forward to working with Mike as we set forth a new era of accountability and service to the taxpayers.”

Tilton served as the interim auditor for six weeks until Reynolds was appointed Auditor April 15 by a vote of the county’s GOP Central Committee.

A 28-year employee of the Auditor’s Office, Tilton was Director of Real Estate for the past four years, supervising 37 employees. He also has a wealth of experience in the area of information services.

A lifelong Butler County resident, Tilton has continued a proud family record of service in the Auditor’s office. His father, James A. Tilton, and his grandfather, A.R. “Ray” Tilton, both served as Butler County Auditor.

“I enjoyed working with Mr. Reynolds when he was Liberty Township Fiscal Officer and I look forward to working with him in his new role as Butler County Auditor,” Tilton said. “I believe he will restore trust in the office.”

Tilton and his wife, Teresa, have three children and reside in Hanover Township.
